Introduce Your Students to Birds

Your Trip to Huntington...

Delve into the fascinating world of birds with your students at the Audubon Center and the Birds of Vermont Museum. They will be introduced to bird adaptation, migration, identification, and conservation issues. Your students will have fun and will be inspired by what they see, do, and learn on this trip!

At Audubon...

Our bird program is designed to engage your students in a variety of outdoor activities. Our professional education staff will guide your students through several habitats to view birds in the wild. Students will learn about bird song, they will observe bird nests and eggs and they will have the opportunity to use binoculars and age-appropriate field guides to practice their bird watching skills.

At the Museum...

Your students will have the opportunity to see over 250 species of birds. Students will be given age-appropriate scavenger hunts to help focus their attention as they travel through the Museum. All scavenger hunts were designed to coincide with Vermont's Grade Expectations.

Birds of Vermont Museum

The Birds of Vermont Museum is a delightful place where visitors can learn about the birds which make up such a colorful and interesting part of our natural environment. The Museum is a non-profit educational organization. On display are more than 485 wood carvings by Bob Spear, one of Vermont's leading naturalists and wood carvers. All carvings are life-size and biologically accurate. Visitors can study birds that don't fly away! Visitors can also enjoy live birds through the one-way viewing window, and watch Bob work on his latest carving in the workshop.

Museum's Mission

The Birds of Vermont Museum's most important function is education, using the unique approach of carved birds. Our mission is to provide education, to nurture an appreciation of the environment, and to study birds and their habitats using woodcarvings and other museum resources.

GMAC is a 255 acre Center with an incredible diversity of habitats. Over five miles of hiking trails wind their way through forests, along the Huntington River, the edges of brooks and beaver ponds and through meadows and hayfields. With such a rich variety of habitats the Center is home to many plants and animals which are representative of both the Champlain Valley and the more upland areas of the Green Mountains. Come discover for yourself all that the Center and nature has to offer.

Audubon's Mission

The mission of Audubon Vermont is to protect birds, other wildlife and their habitats by creating a culture of conservation, in collaboration with Audubon chapters, through education, science, and public policy.
